

Art with a Conscience

Written by Editor
Tuesday, 07 October 2014 13:21

As part of the celebration of its 150th Anniversary, Penn Center on St. Helena Island, SC, will present an exhibition of work by Ellen Zisholtz, the Director/Curator of SC State University's I.P. Stanback Museum and Planetarium, at Penn's York W. Bailey Museum.

These social comment works, Art with a Conscience, will be on view October 10th through November 3, with an opening artist reception on Friday the 10th, catered by Alluette's Café of Charleston, beginning at 6 pm.

Zisholtz comments, "I am honored to be invited to present my art at Penn Center which has been in the forefront of civil rights since its inception in 1862 and was critical to the Civil Rights Movement in the 1960s. I am also thankful to work at a Museum of "Conscience and Social Justice" at a Historically Black College. I hope that my work creates an interest in contemporary issues and precipitates discussions and social action."

Ellen Zisholtz is the Director/Curator at the I.P. Stanback Museum and

Art with a Conscience

Written by Editor

Tuesday, 07 October 2014 13:21

<http://peoplenet.com> What is the most beautiful and most terrible thing in the world? The answer is: the human soul. (Edvard Munch, 1893)