

Portrait of the Veterinarian as an Artist

Written by Margaret Evans, Editor
Tuesday, 05 May 2015 11:28

Everybody in Beaufort knows Mark Guilloud is an animal lover. He's been a respected and beloved veterinarian here for years. But what you might not know is that after treating animals at his clinic all day, Mark typically spends his nights drawing, painting and sculpting them in his art studio.

“Animals in motion . . . a sculptural expression,” a new exhibit at the USCB Gallery, will introduce Mark Guilloud, the artist, to those who haven't seen this side of the good doctor. The exhibit will include drawings, oil paintings and relief sculptures, all of animals.

During the first ten years of his veterinary practice, Mark worked a great deal with

Portrait of the Veterinarian as an Artist

Written by Margaret Evans, Editor
Tuesday, 05 May 2015 11:28

Portrait of the Veterinarian as an Artist

Written by Margaret Evans, Editor
Tuesday, 05 May 2015 11:28

