

Do The Write Thing

Written by Editor
Wednesday, 09 May 2012 08:25

"Because it can't be preserved, published, produced or performed if it doesn't exist." – Jodie Randisi, coauthor TOTAL PARDON, An Extraordinary Love Story

Author and speaker Jodie Randisi is presenting a DO THE WRITE THING Creativity Workshop on Thursday, May 17th, at the Technical College of the Lowcountry from 1 – 3 pm.

This workshop is for anyone with a story to tell, especially those who may be considering writing (or publishing) a personal essay, memoir, novel, speech, or presentation. Whether participants want to celebrate and preserve family history or discover clever ways to communicate and share their unique stories, Randisi's highly interactive, hands-on workshop provides both inspiration and instruction.

DETAILS:

Registration required, limited seating, deadline: May 11th, 2012.

Cost, $29.95, includes 40-page, full-color workbook with exercises and valuable resources for both authors and speakers.

Sponsored by Heaven Sent Christian Bookstore.

Website: www.do-the-write-thing.com

ABOUT:

JODIE RANDISI is the owner of COWCATCHER Publications &

Presentations, a company she founded to provide inspiration and information for parents and teachers. Jodie's passion—other than listening to or publishing great stories—is helping others tell their stories and preserve their legacy. She is the author or coauthor of four books, two of which are memoirs. As a certified Time To Teach! trainer, Jodie provides professional development for school districts around the country; her presentations focus on student discipline and classroom management. When asked to work with students and their families as a life coach, she's known as the Child Whisperer.