Local theatre company Coastal Stage Productions, CSP, who is quickly gaining a reputation for quality short-run theatre projects, returns to area venues with the timeless Southern comedy/drama Steel Magnolias.

“If you can’t find anything good to say about anybody, come sit by me.” These words of wisdom sum up Robert Harling’s 1987 off Broadway sensation and subsequent smash film Steel Magnolias.

Set in a beauty parlor in Southern Louisiana, illustrates how the lives of six distinctly different women interweave via the small town gossip that shadows the unending cycle of birth, marriage and death. Filled with hilarious Southern quips and humorously revealing verbal confrontations, draws on underlying strength and love which make the play truly touching, funny and marvelous to enjoy.
Steel Magnolias

This colorful cast is a wonderful combination of new and returning CSP members: Toye Hickman is the sassy town beautician Truvy, and her eccentric salon side-kick is played by Lyndsay Malprhus. Connie Dudek-Hoskins plays C/
